

Federal agencies are managing significant inventories.

Do you have the visibility and productivity enhancing tools you need?

The Department of Defense has more than $2.6 trillion in assets at more than 5,000 facilities worldwide.<sup>1</sup>

The pandemic has highlighted the importance of the Strategic National Stockpile of supplies and equipment stored in secret warehouses around the U.S.<sup>2</sup>

Federal civilian agencies occupy 90 million square feet of warehouse space, comprising approximately 19,000 buildings.<sup>3</sup>

Legacy mobile devices

Not up to the security risks governments face

Without ongoing support, outdated Windows® mobile operating systems are now vulnerable to security risks, viruses, hacking and malware. Zebra has made Android secure for the enterprise environment.

Zebra Android devices

Secure data, accelerate processes and simplify operations

Zebra Android devices include a whole suite of Mobility DNA applications that are up to the challenges of today's real-time government warehouse – to help secure, speed and streamline operations.

Slower task completion; Less intuitive, green screen push-button devices

40% faster data entry and 60% fewer errors with touch screen<sup>4</sup>

Battery change prompts cold reboot that creates downtime, lost productivity

Fast charging, hot swap batteries keep devices running

Lack of replacement parts leads to retired devices and slower operations

Readily available replacement parts help maintain business continuity

Longer training cycles due to a slow, unfamiliar interface and cumbersome navigation

Slash training time with a user interface that's already familiar to workers

Learn how you can streamline your warehouse operations with Zebra Android devices.
